

Abstract

The present invention discloses a LCD apparatus and a back light module thereof. The back light module and a printed circuit board are disposed within a housing having a depression. The back light module includes a back light plate and light source disposed on the printed circuit board. The back light plate and the housing are formed in integral. The back light plate includes a plurality of holes allowing passage of the light generated by the light source.